Notice has been received that 500 shrubs for border and multi-plantings and 51,000 multi-plantings and 51,000 multi-plantings will be received this fall for planting on farms of district cooperators.

The meeting closed with the singing of the national anthem. Those present included: Director Stanley Laurence, Allan L. Carl Peterson, Paul Mitchell, Ralph G. Eckert, SCS.

PENNSY TO CONTINUE OIL CITY-CORRY TRAINS

Continuance of passenger service between Corry and Oil City for three more months on a trial basis, has been promised by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

W. W. Patchell, general manager of the road's Central Region, made this announcement at a meeting held in Oil City with representatives from Titusville and Oil City.

The Pennsy will not press the Public Utility Commission for a hearing, now indefinitely postponed, on the removal of the trains until it sees how business goes in the trial period.

The three months will start November 1.

Emblem Expansion Program Revealed At Dinner Meeting

District representatives, branch managers and others affiliated with Emblem Oil Company operations met for dinner, last evening, in the United Refinery building in a meeting which was described today by W. T. Booth, new sales manager of Emblem, as the kickoff in the new sales promotion program of his concern.

After enjoying a delicious dinner, the group listened to the expansion plans as outlined by H. R. Logan, general manager and treasurer, and by Mr. Booth. The program calls for development of present accounts, the acquiring of new business, and emphasis on selling full petroleum requirements to customers presently purchasing only a part of their petroleum products from Emblem.

The development of three model stations also is planned, the present E. and S. station on Pennsylvania avenue, east, at Water street, the proposed new station on Third avenue near Liberty street, and the new station in Corry.

Also present at last night's meeting were H. A. Logan, president of United and Emblem; Harry W. Schmidt, vice president of Emblem; H. A. Logan, Jr., vice president of United; J. P. Wendell, a United director, and Bryan Warman of Buffalo, advertising counselor.

STATION CELEBRATES OIL PROGRESS WEEK

The E. and S. Keystone Service Station, corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Water street, has scheduled a gala celebration as a fitting windup to Oil Progress Week. On both Friday, October 19, and Saturday, October 20, they are making gift presentations with every purchase of seven gallons of gasoline. Six crystal clear tin mugs attractively presented in a handy carrying case will be one of the gifts. To make the occasion a real celebration for the youngsters there will be lollipops and balloons given with each purchase. Even the family dog will be remembered with dog biscuits. The E. and S. Station feels that their presentation of these gift items will serve to show appreciation to customers at a time considered appropriate in view of the importance of Oil Progress Week to local economy.

Pennsylvania Continues to Grow As One of Nation's Agricultural States; Fertile Acres Noted During Celebration

Pennsylvania is a great industrial Commonwealth, but in recent years it has been attaining increasing stature as a highly important agricultural state — and with good reason.

In spite of fewer people on Keystone State farms and a shrinkage in the number of farms, the production of crops, livestock, poultry, eggs and dairy products has been increasing year by year. Farmers have combined education and skills with science, power and machines to place the majority of Pennsylvania farms on a basis of high production.

Nature was most bountiful in her provision for great diversification of agriculture in Pennsylvania. She provided many fertile acres and a climate that makes this a tree and grass State.

Traveling main highways, the casual observer does not see the real Pennsylvania Agriculture; nor can he visualize the vast expanse of productive acres that make up the approximately 147,000 farms of the Commonwealth. These farm lands, buildings, equipment, livestock, poultry and crops represent a current value of more than two and a half billion dollars, an amount that compares favorably with capital invested in the Commonwealth's metal and metal products industries, and with all other manufacturing industries of the State.

This big business of agriculture in the Commonwealth has an annual cash income of close to three-quarters of a billion dollars. One-third of that income is derived from dairy products, and three-fourths comes from the overall livestock and poultry industries, making Pennsylvania one of the outstanding dairy and poultry areas of the entire United States. In fact, Pennsylvania farmers lead those of all other states in the money received (farm cash income) from the sale of eggs and from chickens, exclusive of broilers, and rank third in dairy products.

Pennsylvania agriculture is solid and substantial. It knows no periods of "boom" or "bust". Farm operators for the most part are frugal, conservative, and wise in the ways of tilling the soil and raising livestock.

Farmers of the Commonwealth are descendants of various nationalities, chiefly English, German (the Pennsylvania Dutch) and the Scotch-Irish, these being the first to clear the wilderness that was Penn's Woods. For a century following the establishment of the Commonwealth by William Penn, the agriculture was largely of the type known as subsistence farming, when farmers produced little more than would support their families. Pennsylvania was regarded as "the breadbasket" of the Revolutionary War and served as the chief source of primary foods during the Civil War.

During the first half of the last century Pennsylvania was the principal proving ground for early inventions that eventually led to the mechanization of American agriculture. Many of the first iron plows, mechanical rakes, reapers, threshing machines and the earliest tractors were tried out or operated on Pennsylvania farms, for this State then was the agricultural center of the Nation. Many Pennsylvania farmers went West when government lands were opened for homesteading after the Civil War, taking with them the farming customs established in Pennsylvania.

The livestock industry of this State, including its great dairy branch, was first developed by English and Scotch-Irish farmers. Germans developed the system of crop rotation and the use of lime and manure. Today, after six to eight generations, these lands in some areas produce as much or more per acre as when first cropped. From the beginning, Pennsylvania farms have been what are called "family size" farms averaging about 87 acres in size, and they are the backbone of the State's agriculture. Fifty years ago the all-time peak was reached in the number of farms, nearly 225,000 with 19 million acres of which about 13 million were crop-land. Today there are 15 million acres of farm land of which 8 million are cropped.

TO RETIRE—Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, above, former commander of the Far East Air Forces, will return to the United States soon to retire. Stratemeyer, 60, who suffered a heart attack last May, will recuperate at Winter Park, Fla. He has been in service 36 years.

Pennsylvania agriculture today is geared for higher production than ever before. Within the past decade all-time records have been established for the production of milk, eggs, chickens, broilers, turkeys, swine—and the number of cattle and calves this year reached the highest point in 56 years. New records have been set for the growing of green peas and all principal vegetables for canning and freezing, and old records were broken for production of grapes and cherries.

This year alone Pennsylvania farms will produce more than 62 million bushels of corn worth about $100,000,000; 60 million bushels of wheat, oats, barley, rye and buckwheat; close to 80 million pounds of tobacco; 16 million bushels of potatoes; nearly 12 million bushels of apples, peaches and pears, 17,000 tons of grapes, 13,000 tons of cherries and thousands of tons of vegetables for fresh market, for freezing and canning.

Because Pennsylvania is such a great livestock and poultry producing area it is impossible for our farmers to grow all the immense quantities of grains required to feed its record numbers of swine, its milk and egg "machines." Vast quantities must be brought in from surplus grain-producing areas, adding to costs of production.

During Pennsylvania Week, citizens of the Commonwealth may well look with pride upon the accomplishments of its farmers, the productivity and attractiveness of its many farms, orchards, and their contribution to the well-being of each and every resident. They can see our farmers as solid citizens of a great Commonwealth whose total farm lands give Pennsylvania a rank of 32nd in the Nation, but whose mighty efforts place the Keystone State 14th in the value of all agricultural products.

Pennsylvania farms and farmers are doing their full share in production for defense and, should all-out war come, the more than 700,000 men, women and children on our farms will be ready to produce food and fiber as they have never done before.

Pennsylvania Week Proclamation

OCTOBER 15 - 21

Whereas, Pennsylvania Week, is a time for the people of the Keystone State to recall our great advantages of location, resources and industry, religion, education, agriculture, commerce, culture and all those things that go to make up the good life, and

Whereas, in this 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, Pennsylvania Week becomes also a great patriotic demonstration showing the Nation some of the things we are doing for national defense, that from our mines and mills, our factories and farms and all our natural resources comes the strength of America in this period of national emergency, and

Whereas, since every community shares in this great effort and looks forward to the days of peace and peacetime prosperity, it is well that we focus our attention on what every community offers and will continue to offer those who want to share in the good things this State has, and

Whereas, since the good life we have enjoyed over many years, the good life we have helped fashion for the Nation and for the world is again threatened and since Pennsylvania has a vital role not only in defense but in peace, now therefore, I, Wm. F. Crosssett, Burgess of the Borough of Warren, do hereby call upon the people of our community to assist in planning for the observance of Pennsylvania Week and to participate in all the activities of that week. Given under my hand and seal this 11th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one.

Signed: Wm. F. CROSSSETT, Burgess

STALIN SWITCHES TO A FROWN

Premier Joseph Stalin's acknowledgement that Russia recently exploded another atomic bomb inevitably stirs a lot of guesswork about his motives.

The last time the White House disclosed a Soviet atomic explosion, the Kremlin responded with the obviously transparent claim that it was using atomic energy for such peaceful purposes as diverting rivers and blowing up mountains.

Now the propaganda tactics have changed. Frankly almost boastfully, Stalin admits he is making bombs and will continue experimenting with atomic weapons. Why this new tack?

Possibly Russia recognizes that the world has grown weary of its succession of phony peace offensives, its absurd moral posturing. Moscow may have decided that in the present state of world opinion rattling the saber is more effective than waving the olive branch.

If menace is the new Russian device, the free world's "neutralists"—those who pine for a sideline seat at the great world power struggle—are undoubtedly his target. Disillusioned at the evident falsity of Soviet peace moves, the neutralists still tremble with fear. Gestures of atomic strength may be well calculated to stimulate greater tremors and send them scurrying for the bushes.

Stalin's admission had other interesting aspects that support the conclusion he was appealing to neutralists. Though he dropped all talk of "peaceful uses" of atomic energy, he still insisted that the aim of Russia's A-bomb program was "the defense of our country from attacks from the British-American aggressive bloc."

This is pretty thin stuff. No existing or contemplated plans call for a Western armed force big enough to constitute an offensive threat against Russia. Our backlog of A-bombs is unquestionably a potential danger to the Soviet Union; but we have made it unmistakably clear we do not intend to use that strategic weapon except in answer to enemy attack.
Furthermore, there is no proof in the present stage of atomic development that any A-weapon is a "defense" against the big bomb, unless you regard counter-offense as defense.

Stalin hinted, too, that conditions may now be more favorable for international prohibition of all atomic weapons. Once again, the neutralists must have been his intended audience, since the Soviet premier surely could not expect the West's hard-headed realists to fall for this ancient dodge.

From the moment atomic energy first came on the scene, Russia has persistently blocked all measures for effective world control. The crux of any acceptable control plan is the right of an international authority to inspect every nation's atomic facilities.
Moscow is firmly opposed to that necessary inspection. Consequently all its pious calls for control constitute mere hollow propaganda.

All in all, one must conclude that Russia is unhappy that the world no longer takes seriously its pretensions to peace. Watching the West's growing military might, the Kremlin has turned to tougher talk in the hope this new tactic may succeed where the other failed. An alert West will assure that that hope is a vain one.

Here And There

Ye Ed. Ed would, we know, want to help these deserving folk who were burned out, Monday night, when fire damaged their small home in Clarendon. Mr. and Mrs.
Clarence Wagner have been helped to a great extent by their Clarendon friends but they are still in need of a double bed, mattress and springs and "just any kind of bedding," according to Mrs. Wagner, as there are not adequate sleeping accommodations for the children.
Mr. Wagner, having been injured during the fire, is not working at present. Some clothing has been received but if you good people know the ages of the children, perhaps that will help them out. The three girls are one year, three years and 13 years old; the two boys are 15 and 17. If you have something you can spare, please give us a call and we'll get word to Mrs. Wagner.

Abigail has been busy ever since morning, grinding up a little of this and quite a bit of that to make a batch of "Chicago Hot," and the smell of it made a neighbor so envious of Abigail's cooking that she ran over into Abigail's kitchen and asked: "Is something burning?" This upset Abigail so greatly that she had to drop down a minute on the old living room couch and there she found last week's church envelope with the money still in it and realized she must have dropped into the collection that letter she wrote (just in fun, mind you) to the Lonely Hearts Club. The peach brandy is all gone, so she took two aspirins, and now she isn't at all sure she'll be in fit shape to make sliced cucumber pickle tomorrow. She was drinking a cup of senna tea, double strength and with no cream, when she finally got the party line free to call us at noon.

GOP Leaders Don't Agree On Anything Except Truman

BY PETER EDMON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The Washington meeting of Republican leaders from 21 eastern states was most revealing, though not for the usual reasons. It was revealing for what it did not develop, rather than for what it did.

No new platform was unveiled. No new party line was put forward which would guarantee the Grand Old Party a victory in 1952. On only one subject did the Republican spokesmen seem agreed. This was that the Truman administration was terrible and should be thrown out of office. But this idea is no longer news, coming from this particular source.

Otherwise, speakers at the public sessions of the meeting skirted all around the principal issues without ever coming to grips with them. New York's Congresswoman Katherine St. George put her finger on this point in her luncheon talk to the 300 national committeemen and other party leaders in Washington.

"Of course it is very pleasant to meet old friends, to indulge in plenty of back-slapping and to tell each other that all is right with the world and the party and that we are on the road to victory."

"Well," she continued, "this audience is adult and the facts are that we have lost five consecutive elections."

"OUR party is divided, it is split in two just as much as the Democratic Party is split in two and no amount of cheering is going to change this fact."

"In my humble opinion, the Republican Party has lost the last three elections because it has shied away from the main issues."

"The Republican Party will never win an election and may become nothing more than a useless appendix to the body politic if it does not take a strong stand on the important issues facing this nation and the world."

Something like this might be expected from some Democratic critic of the Republican Party. But to have it come direct from a Republican member of Congress, it was a shocker.

If this message had any effect on her listeners in the closed meetings of the Washington conference, it wasn't reflected in the later public sessions. At the dinner meeting, Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee for 1952, seemed to emphasize the split that Mrs. St. George had mentioned earlier.

In what were perhaps the topic sentences of his talk, Senator Saltonstall declared:

"WE'VE got to forget those stand-pat attitudes that sometimes marked us in the earlier days. . . . I believe that in the Republican Party we have had too many executives and not enough of those hard workers who ring doorbells, get mud on their shoes, make friends and win the confidence of everyday people. It is our job to convince the voters that the GOP of the 1920's is dead, and buried deep—that a revitalized Republican Party understands their problems. . . ."

Senator Dirksen almost completely disregarded a prepared text for his talk and extemporized as only he can do. As an old-fashioned Fourth of July orator, there's nobody in Washington who can beat him. He gave the Democrats the chickens for every sin from 1932 to date, and the well-dressed crowd of a thousand loved it and lapped it up with loud and long applause.

As for a constructive platform, however, the best that Senator Dirksen had to offer was to hate the Democrats.

But later Senator Dirksen declared, "I want no platform that has the enervating weakness of Me-Too-ism." And thereby he revealed again the split in the party which Mrs. St. George mentioned.

Jacques Cartier, French discoverer of the island of St. Lawrence, was a native of the island of St. Malo.

It's a pretty drive 'tween Russell and Lander right now. . . . The well-kept grounds of Russell cemetery deserve commendations, the caretaker still at work at dusk. . . . That old windmill looks interesting. . . . Beautiful new ranch style homes, first a grey, then a yellow, then a concrete, then a white one. . . . Have you ever noticed those two impressive cupola ventilators atop that roadside barn? . . . And off to the north, that beautiful wooded slope, ablaze with color, a winding road, and a white house in a grove just to set it off for some artist's palette. . . . Then a note of sadness: a forgotten, decaying church. . . . A beautiful white house set off by its red car in front. . . . A fine young Holstein herd on the south side of the road. . . . A couple more pretty ranch-style homes, one just at the edge of Lander. . . . An immense flock of white leghorns, going to roost. Warren county's rural section at its best. . . . Pleasant, smiling waitress, a nice-looking hall, white tables centered with small pumpkins, apples, grapes, autumn leaves. . . . The smell of coffee and good cooking as you park your car and admire the immaculate white church with its new walks and nice foliage. . . . Sworn Foe of Communists Is Pennsylvania Week Speaker At Meeting Here, Wednesday

Warren citizens will have an opportunity next week to hear an address by a nationally famous enemy of communism when Harry Alan Sherman, prominent Pittsburgh attorney, speaks at the Pennsylvania Week dedication program in the Warren County Court House.

Ralph E. Sires, county chairman for the local observance, announced that an interesting program has been arranged for the flag dedication ceremony next Thursday evening to which the public is invited. The Warren Boy Choir will present a group of songs and the evening will close with Mr. Sherman's address.

The speaker was personal counsel for Matt Cvetic, F.B.I. undercover agent and presented him to the Un-American Activities Committee. He also arranged for the compilation of the "Cvetic Story" the sale of which he negotiated to the Saturday Evening Post and Warner Brothers for its spectacular movie, "I Was A Communist for the F.B.I."

Mr. Sherman is chairman of the Americans Battling Communism, which he helped organize in 1945 with Judge Blair F. Gunther of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. For several years prior to that time he was active in blocking the inroads of Communism into the trade union movement in Pittsburgh, particularly within the C. I. O. In this latter work, he took on assignments as business agent in three unions simultaneously in order to defeat the Communists in the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, since expelled from the C. I. O.

He worked closely with F. B. I. Un-American Activities Committee and was recognized nationally in 1943 as the leading "foe of the Reds" by Business Week Magazine which again in 1945 spotlighted him as the sole outstanding opponent of Communism in organized labor in the story, "One Man's Fight."

Mr. Sherman exposed and caused the arrest of Steve Nelson as a seditionist, and has been personal counsel for Judge Michael A. Musmanno, whose active support he procured in bringing about the successful sedition trial against Andrew Onda and Joseph Dolson, leading Communist functionaries in Pittsburgh. He personally broke up the important Turtle Creek Valley headquarters of the Communist party active in the Serbian Progressive club there, and successfully sued and exposed the "American Kremlin" of the party, 1916 East street, Pittsburgh, headquarters of the Foreign Language Press.

Mr. Sherman has delivered at his own expense, 1268 speeches on the subject and has debated outstanding leaders of the Left Wing and the Communist National Executive Board on radio forums in order to bring to the American people a greater realization of the issues involved in the death struggle between mass totalitarianism and individual dignity of man.

'The Wider Vision' Lutheran Leaders Conference Topic

The outstanding leaders of the Lutheran denomination are to be heard in special addresses Sunday and Monday at Erie and Clarion and many members of parishes in this section have planned to be in attendance.

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting known as "Lutheran Convocation Night," in Luther Memorial church, West Tenth street, Erie, at eight o'clock Sunday evening. His subject will be, "The Wider Vision."

Also on the program with Dr. Fry will be the Rev. Dr. G. Lawrence Hammelman, president of the Pittsburgh Synod. He will speak on, "What We Need at Home."

Dr. Fry is president of the two-million-member United Lutheran Church, largest Lutheran body in America. Dr. Fry is a distinguished church leader on the world scene, serving as vice-chairman of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches, which represents 160 million persons. Also, he is treasurer of the Lutheran World Federation which has its headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Fry was instrumental in helping draft the constitution for the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, and presided at the first session of that organization when it was founded in Cleveland, Ohio, in November, 1950. At the beginning of this year, Dr. Fry made a world-circling tour of war-ravaged countries under the auspices of the Planning Committee of the 1951 "One Great Time for Sharing" appeal of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA.

Before his election to the presidency of the United Lutheran Church in America, in 1944, Dr. Fry served as pastor of Trinity Lutheran, Akron, Ohio, since 1929. He was a delegate to the Lutheran World Federation organizing convention, in 1947, at Lund, Sweden, and to the first assembly of the World Council of Churches, held in Amsterdam in 1948.

Drs. Fry and Hammelman will also speak on Monday evening, Oct. 15th, at a similar meeting which will be held at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Clarion State Teachers' College, Clarion, Pa. Lutherans of the area who cannot attend the Erie meeting are urged to make the trip to Clarion.

Cherry Grove Boom Described in Rare Volume at Library

A most unusual and rare oil scrap book has just been presented to the Warren Public Library.

It comes as a gift for the petroleum collection from George H. Dimick, Jr., and Thomas E. Dimick, both of Huntington, West Virginia, and sons of George Dimick, the man who drilled the famous "646" gusher at Cherry Grove in 1882.

The volume contains an excellent picture of the well that ushered in the Cherry Grove boom, Warren County's greatest oil excitement; the secret agreement Dimick signed with his drillers to conceal the real worth of the well, and a host of newspaper clippings from far and near telling of the newly discovered oil field.

The book will be placed in the petroleum collection but to keep it in good condition it will be housed in a specially made plastic case.

George Dimick operated the Jamestown Oil Company along with Captain Peter Grace of Jamestown. He was seeking a location for drilling when he happened to stop into Morck's Jewelry Store, now A. C. Kirberger & Son store. In conversation with Mr. Morck, he asked Morck if he knew where he could secure some land to lease for drilling. Morck and William T. Falconer held some Cherry Grove land under lease and hurriedly subleased to Dimick whose successful well marked the initial well in what proved to be the greatest oil field discovered up through 1882.

During the greatest Cherry Grove excitement, George Dimick, Sr., lived in Sheffield but left there in 1885. Later, he drilled with much success in West Virginia and Kentucky.

He is connected with Warren County in still another way. At the time Henry R. Rouse was burned to death at Rouseville, George Dimick was his confidential clerk. Rouse, it will be remembered, left most of his fortune to Warren County for road improvement and for the construction of the Rouse Home. A Dimick's two sons thought Warren was the proper repository for their father's book and their thoughtful presentation enlarges the local oil collection in a very practical way.

Murphy Stores Win 'Oscar of Industry' in Industrial Survey

New York, Oct. 11—In the "national ratings of the independent board of judges in the Financial World Survey of Annual Reports, G. C. Murphy Company was judged as having the best annual report of the variety merchandise industry. The bronze "Oscar of Industry" trophy will be presented to P. L. Sample, president of the company, at the Annual Awards Banquet in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Statler, New York, on October 28.

This is the fourth consecutive year in which this distinctive honor has come to the Murphy Company. In 1947, they not only received the bronze "Oscar" for the best annual report of all variety store companies, but also received a silver "Oscar" for the best annual report of all retailers in the nation. For the next three years, 1948, 1949 and 1950, bronze "Oscars" have been awarded in the Financial World Annual Survey.

A total of 5,000 annual reports were considered this year in the international competition, the eleventh in the series of surveys.

The jury who made the final selections is headed by Dr. Carman Blough, research director of the American Institute of Accountants, and he was assisted by Dr. Pierre R. Eretay, president of the National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies; Elmer Walzer, financial editor of the United Press; Denny Griswold, publisher of Public Relations News; and Guy Fry, past president of the National Society of Art Directors.

BOY SUICIDES AFTER SHOOTING SWEETHEART

Somerset, Pa., Oct. 11—(P)—A 19-year-old girl who police said was shot in a suicide pact which ended in the death of her boy friend, remained in critical condition today in a hospital at nearby Confluence.

State Police Privates John Docherty and Robert Hilliard identified the dead man as Darius McNeil of Richmond, Va., and quoted Miss Ruby McNeil, also of Richmond, as saying they decided to kill themselves because they couldn't get married.

The girl was shot in the back of the head and McNeil in the right temple. A .38 caliber German Luger was found in the front seat of an auto where the two were found yesterday.

Police quoted the girl as saying she and McNeil could not marry because they were related. Relatives in Richmond said McNeil is already married.

New Corry School Will Accommodate Over 1,200 Students

A new joint Junior-Senior high school at Corry with facilities for 1,240 pupils from six Warren and Erie county school districts is expected to be proposed next Monday night at a meeting of the directors of the joint school district.

Corry School Superintendent Lawrence Douglas said that the townships of Spring Creek and Columbus in Warren county, and the townships of Wayne and Concord and the boroughs of Elgin and Corry in Erie county have been operating as a joint school district since July, and that something will have to be done to provide adequate classroom facilities for the pupils. Prior to that time, pupils from Spring Creek and Columbus townships attended Corry high school on a tuition basis.

Supt. Douglas stated he and members of the architectural firm of Hunter, Caldwell and Campbell conferred recently with Harrisburg authorities and had come up with the tentative proposal of a building having 25 regular class rooms, five special class rooms, three commercial rooms, two agriculture rooms, two art rooms, two music rooms, one conference room, a library seating 150 pupils, a cafeteria capable of serving more than 1,000 on a three-shift basis, an 850-seat auditorium, a gymnasium seating 1,000, offices, two faculty rooms and a health department.

Using this as a basis, the architects are expected to disclose the cost of such a building after which time the Joint Committee will determine if it most adequately meets the needs of the six districts and if they are financially capable of building it.

A negative answer on the last question will result in the contemplated structure being revised until its cost can be brought in line with what the school boards feel the districts can construct.

Historical Tours To Be Features of Pennsylvania Week

Harrisburg—Itineraries of 21 historical tours of the State in honor of Pennsylvania Week have been mapped for local groups for participation in the sixth annual celebration, October 15 to 21, according to Secretary of Commerce Andrew J. Sordani, whose Department is promoting the pilgrimages in cooperation with the Historical and Museum Commission of the Commonwealth.

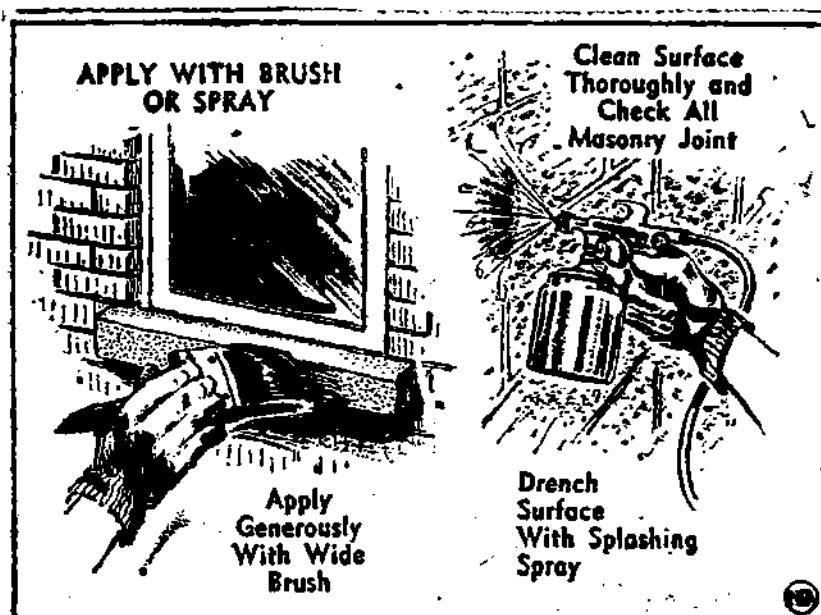

The tours range from 60 to 165 miles, averaging 108½ miles per trip. Dr. Donald A. Cadzow, Director of the Commission said, and can easily be completed in a day or even in an afternoon. The Commission's historian, Dr. S. K. Stevens, emphasized that although the tours cover a total of 2,279 miles dotted with historical and scenic sites in 55 of Pennsylvania's counties, the routes do not pretend to include all that is scenic or historic in the Keystone State.

Much is included in each of the tours, however, and the Pennsylvania Week traveler can see individual spots of historic and scenic interest in virtually every corner of the State, or personally visit Valley Forge State Park, the Gettysburg Battlefield, or Bushy Run Battlefield, where much of our nation's history was written.

History classes in schools, women's organizations, civic, fraternal and historical groups have been urged by I. S. Sahli, 1951 State Chairman for Pennsylvania Week, to include one of the historical tours in their Pennsylvania Week planning.

"Such excursions will enable Pennsylvanians to add immeasurably to their knowledge of local history and at the same time have an enjoyable Pennsylvania Week outing during the State's most beautiful season," he said.

Detailed information regarding each of the 21 tours can be obtained from the local historical societies throughout Pennsylvania.

Protects Brick and Masonry

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service
One of the most insidious—and expensive—enemies of the homeowner is water, plain old H₂O. It infiltrates like a Communist spy and, also, like the Commie, eventually causes rot and disintegration.

To the rescue comes a manufacturer with a brand-new type repellent that will, he claims, seal out water from brick and masonry without plugging them up with wax, oils and stearates. The new product, which can be applied with brush or spray, has a silicone base. It is a penetrating volatile solution containing newly-developed, long-lasting chemicals.

It is not a surface coating like oil paint, nor does it form a continuous film. It penetrates into the stone or brick, after which the volatile solvent evaporates, leaving the water-repellant chemicals in the pores to repulse destructive moisture globules.

Depth of penetration depends on the density of the stone, of course. Sandstone will absorb the repellent to a depth of three-eighths of an inch, making it particularly valuable in treating sandstone sills in brick or stone homes.

Driving rain forces air-borne soot and dirt into the pores of masonry, thus making it dirtier and dirtier with every rainstorm. One of the virtues claimed for the new product is that soot and dirt can't enter the sealed-off pores and therefore are merely washed off by rain. Theoretically, therefore, your repellent-treated house should be cleaner after a rain than before.

In winter, moisture in masonry alternately freezes and thaws, creating cracks and crevices, especially in mortar work. This, it is claimed, is prevented by the new product.

In some instances, only the "weather" walls or those where moisture penetration is experienced, need be treated. This, of course, is the most economical method. It is quite practical, because the treated surface looks no different than the untreated ones.

The new water-repellant can be used on surfaces previously coated with water cement paints. Or, after applying the repellent to an unpainted surface, you can paint over it—after allowing ten days for complete absorption and evaporation. This method of surface-sealing is said to be especially useful in combating efflorescence—the ugly, white patches often seen on masonry. They are deposits of soluble salts left after wall-moisture has evaporated.

The La Venta people of Southern Mexico were forerunners of the Mayas.

Wife Can Easily Figure Out Why She Bore Her Husband

MOST women have sense enough to know when they are boring or annoying their husbands.

But a lot of women who know that much don't have the curiosity to sit down and figure out how and why.

It is really a simple thing for a woman to do. First of all she ought to think of all the women who are mutual friends and acquaintances of her husband. She knows pretty well what her husband thinks about all of them.

Sue is a bore because she is always complaining. Nell is good company because she is light-hearted and lives up to a party or a small gathering. Martha is quiet but pleasant to be with, because she knows how to listen.

Running through the entire list a woman can pretty well figure out that her Jim or her Bill likes such and such qualities in a woman, is bored or annoyed by others.

HE LIKES A HAPPY ATMOSPHERE

HE likes a woman with an air of gaiety. Okay, she asks herself "Am I gay or glum?" He is annoyed by a woman who chatters constantly.

All right, the next question is: "Have I fallen into the habit of chattering so constantly, my husband never seems to pay much attention to what I have to say?" He admires a woman who seems to entertain effortlessly and well. "Can I qualify there?"

Only a husband who is rude or unfeeling constantly tells his wife her faults.

But if she really pays attention to his reactions a wife can see how she herself bores or antagonizes her husband. And she can add those likes and dislikes to the list she has made up from his reactions to other women.

This shouldn't be too much trouble for any wife. For if a woman is going to spend her life with a man, it will be a far happier life for her if she bores and annoys him as little as possible.

MR. AND MRS. ROY N. ALLENSON

Lander Methodist church was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday evening, when Dorothy E. Olmstead, of Warren, became the bride of Roy N. Allenson, son of John Allenson, of Sugar Grove. The Rev. Gustav Erickson read the service at seven o'clock before an altar setting of palms and baskets of white glads and yellow pom-poms. Aisle pews were marked with white ribbon bows.

Eleanor Swanson, pianist, and Richard Smith, vocalist, both of Warren, provided the nuptial music, the latter singing "The Lord's Prayer", "O Promise Me" and "Because".

Given in marriage by James A. Cowles, the bride wore white slipper satin with lace inserts, Peter Pan collar and long, pointed sleeves in a fitted bodice, and full skirt with chapel length train. A coronet of lace held her fingertip veil and she carried white lilies. Her small gold cross was the bridegroom's gift.

Her sister, Margaret Olmstead, as maid of honor, wore aqua lead and net over taffeta, with matching mitts and headband of yellow pom-poms, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Kenneth Lindell, of Lander, was similarly gowned in yellow and carried Talisman roses.

Theodore Allenson, Sugar Grove, was best man for his brother and ushers were another brother, Carl Allenson, Sugar Grove, and Clair Cowles, Bear Lake.

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Lander community house. Mrs. Raymond Smith, Erie, serving the three-tiered cake; Mrs. James A. Cowles, Lander, and Mrs. Paul Olmstead, Warren, pouring; Mrs. Edward Almendinger, Mrs. Homer Lindell, Carmen Johnson, Mrs.

Robert Almendinger, as sides; Marie Olmstead, sister of the bride from Jamestown, in charge of the guest book. Appointments were beautifully carried out with candles and yellow roses.

The guest list of 120 included relatives and friends from Warren, Jamestown, Celoron, Sugar Grove, Russell, Oil City, Indiana, Bear Lake, Erie, and Boston, Mass.

The couple left later for a wedding trip through the Thousand Islands, to be at home after October 13 in Lander. The bride traveled in a dress of soldier blue wool jersey, with navy accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. She is a graduate of Lander High School, 1946, and is employed by the New Process Company, Warren. Mr. Allenson, alumnus of Sugar Grove High, is employed by the S. M. Flickinger Company, Jamestown.

Honoring the bride-elect with parties were Mrs. Harry Pearson, Margaret Olmstead, Mrs. Kenneth Lindell, Mrs. Jay Cowles, with the rehearsal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cowles.

Many Backstage Hands Needed To Insure Success of Coming Production

The trials and successes of the Burnett family will be aired for the public October 18-19 on the stage of the Woman's Club auditorium by a group of Players' Club actors now rehearsing under the direction of Beatrice Trax, who has been assisted by Mary Helen Johnson.

There are others, however, who are important in the producing of the play. Production Manager Helen Israel, who has been active in the Players for many years, coordinates just about everything in the show; the general trouble shooter, Betty Rishberger, Beatrice teacher, as the bookholder, does the prompting and must be as faithful at rehearsals as any member of the cast.

The set, so much a part of the success of any play, has been designed by Dr. Clark Mellen, husband of the leading lady. Dr. Mellen has been interested in Little Theatre work for some time, having worked with amateur groups at Stanford University and in Los Angeles. The set decor is in charge of Dr. Mellen, who is being helped by Eleanor Rice, Anna Marie Towne, Naomi Wypenny, and Maritza Morgan. Another teacher at Beatrice, Paul Myers, is chairman of the construction crew. His hands are Donald Conway, Frank Cruickshank, Anthony Lucia, Francis Morris, and Earl Abel.

Betty Dunham, who has worked on many Players' Club shows, is chairman of the committee that takes care of the hand properties. Her assistants are Margaret Wright and Jean Johnson. Stage properties will be handled by another experienced member, Marian Homhart, with the aid of Marian Williams, Virginia Myers, Ruth Jackson, and Isobel Yaegle.

Since this is a contemporary play, there will be no frantic search for costumes old or strange. However, the costume committee is always necessary and this one consists of Marie Weissenfluh, Sunny Lucia, Kay Lucia, Frances Groesch, and Margaret Duff. The actors will be made-up by Jo Africa, one of the most active Warren Players, who is the chairman of the make-up committee, Kathryn Martin, and Eleanor Voigt.

Ervin Rader, who has often been seen on the stage, will be doing his work behind scenes for this show, the important job of stage manager. James Hess who has done the job often and well, will be in charge of the lighting, with Jack Updegraff, III, as his assistant.

The box office is under the capable chairmanship of Edna Glasner, and Imogene Schaeffer has charge of publicity. The ushers will be headed by Anna Jane Hawkins, who, like Miss Glasner, is a teacher at Warren High School. The chairman of the social committee has not yet been selected and there are to be additions to the set committee. The names of these workers will be announced at a later date.

30TH ANNIVERSARY OCCASION OF PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. Standley, Kinzua, will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary Sunday, October 14, with an open house to be held at their home from two until four o'clock in the afternoon and from seven until nine in the evening.

Bert Standley, of Van, and Ruby Kahle, also of Van but formerly of Clarion, were united in marriage October 4, 1921, in the Presbyterian manse in Clarion. They are the parents of five children: Bert E., Jr., of Knox; Mrs. Evelyn Barasz, Oil City; Mrs. Elsie McCormick, Harpers Ferry, W. Va.; Mrs. Elaine Miller, Van; and Edward, at home.

Many Activities In Ludlow Churches

Ludlow, Oct. 11.—This is Church Paper Week for parishes of the Augustana Lutheran Church and all members will be called on during the period in the interests of the church paper. The drive in Ludlow is sponsored by the Moriah Missionary Society, with many of the workers assisting the chairman, Mrs. Ernest Swanson.

Announcement was made at the Communion service Sunday morning that the Warren District Lutheran League rally will be held in St. Paul's church, Warren, at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday, the Rev. Wallace Johnson of Mt. Jewett to be the speaker.

Moriah Society members entertained the Saron Missionary Society of Youngville for a local meeting, with 18 out of town visitors. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, who welcomed the guests and conducted a short program which included a response by Mrs. Moline, president of the Youngville society; a humorous monolog by Mrs. Halfast of Youngville; and a Christian film which was furnished by the Youngville group and run by Lawrence Larson. Later, coffee was served at a beautifully decorated table at which Mrs. Wm. Hanson presided, and a social hour was enjoyed. A special ceremony was held, with the Boxes of Blessing collected from both organizations, and Edith Larson giving a description of the uses to which this money is put.

Moriah Ladies Aid held its regular meeting with Mrs. Adolph Johnson and Mrs. Walter Cox as hostesses. The president, Mrs. Lawrence Larson, presided over the short business meeting. The program included a reading by Mrs. Evert Johnson; meditation by Pastor Hans Pearson; and a musical selection by a group of women accompanied by Mrs. Ed. Wenstran and her guitar.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP AT TRINITY CHURCH

A corporate communion will be held at 8:00 a. m. Sunday for all members of this group and any others wishing to join. A breakfast of hot chocolate and sweet rolls will be served following the communion service.

Queen City Murder Case

By Wm. G. Bogart

Chapter 7

THE "morgue" turned out to be the newspaper and photograph file room of Steve's newspaper, where Johnny had sent his partner earlier. By the time the two men and the girl arrived, they were chilled from the ride back from Kentucky. Steve magically produced a full bottle of bourbon and set it beside them on a table littered with old newspapers. He went over to the water cooler and obtained paper cups.

"This might take a little time," he told them.

Nancy asked, "Just what is it you expect to find, Steve?"

The reporter pointed to a large bundle of old photographs he had brought from one of the files. He had already told Nancy about Irma's description of the man they had both seen one night, waiting in a car at the Club Mayfair.

"I remember him, too," he said, "it stuck in my mind because of one of these old photographs." He pointed to the table.

Jeannette recently was the first hot lead. Johnny wanted to track it down as fast as he could—to save his own skin.

Nancy said sharply, "Steve! We'll be here forever!"

Steve put down the picture with a sigh and started through a new pile.

NANCY'S remark reminded Johnny that it was getting late. He said, "Come on, sweetheart. I'll get you a cab. This might take all night. You're going home and get to bed."

They left Steve Eggers half buried in photographs and with another drink in his hand.

Going down in the building elevator, Nancy touched Johnny's arm and said, "Don't you think we should stop by and see Moe? He might have heard something from Beth. Perhaps she's called again."

He said, "Well, phone him."

They were outside the building, and he saw the cocktail bar a few doors down Vine Street. "I'll buy you a night cap and we'll check with Moe from there."

Inside the place, Johnny found a booth away from the bar, where their presence would not be too noticeable. He wondered if the police were looking for him.

He ordered brandies, then slipped into a phone booth at the rear of the bar. He guessed Moe had probably fallen to sleep on the office divan by now.

But his partner answered the call with alacrity, and the timbre of his voice held excitement. "Golly!" he cried. "I thought something had happened. Where are you?"

Johnny told him.

"Listen," Moe said fast, "Nancy's sister called. That blackmailer phoned her again tonight. She says you've got to come out there first thing in the morning. She says name your own price, but come! So I told her we'd take the case."

"You told her?" demanded Johnny sharply.

"Well, I was figuring it from two angles," his partner quickly explained. "We can use the money. Also, it gets you out of town for a couple days while this Jeannette murder is still hot. So I've made all the arrangements."

Steve's remembrance of the stranger who had been seeing

"That was very thoughtful of you, uncle."

"Yes," Moe said, "I took care of every detail. Now, here's what you do . . ."

He said finally, "Okay, pappy. I'll see you in a little while. You might as well close up shop and meet me at the hotel."

Nancy's face glowed from effects of the cold and the strong brandy. She was a beautiful girl, thought Johnny Saxon. Right now, though, as he imparted the latest information about her sister Beth Sherman, her gray-blue eyes became troubled again.

She said tensely, "She's in danger, Johnny. Real danger! The quicker we get out there the better."

"We can't do anything tonight," he drank his brandy.

"I know," Nancy agreed. "We'll leave in the morning. We can use my car. Call me first thing when you get up."

"All right," he said. "What time in the morning?"

"We ought to get started by ten o'clock."

They had walked to the corner of Sixth and Vine, where there was a cab stand. As he helped her into a waiting taxicab, Nancy said, "Remember, we'll be there for the week-end. Bring some things."

"All right," he said. He could tell her later, after they arrived at The Colony, that he had no intention of spending an entire weekend in the country in weather like this.

"And Johnny?" Nancy said, leaning toward him as he stood in the open doorway of the back.

"Yes," Moe said, "Nancy's sister called. That blackmailer phoned her again tonight. She says you've got to come out there first thing in the morning. She says name your own price, but come! So I told her we'd take the case."

"You told her?" demanded Johnny sharply.

"Well, I was figuring it from two angles," his partner quickly explained. "We can use the money. Also, it gets you out of town for a couple days while this Jeannette murder is still hot. So I've made all the arrangements."

BPW Will Support Foreign Student Summer Program

Holding their October dinner-meeting at the YWCA activities building, members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club voted to support the Foreign Student Summer Program in 1952, cooperating with other local groups if the project is continued here.

A very interesting report on the fall meeting of District One at Greenville was made by Emma Christian, who was accompanied to the sessions by Margaret Drivas and May Showers.

Plans were made for a social evening some time in November, the place to be the social room of First Baptist church, the time to be announced by a committee composed of Violet Peterson and Viola Landmark.

Members were urged to participate 100% in the Needlework Guild In-gathering and were reminded that gifts of clothing or money may be left with Mayme Marsh at the Cancer office any Friday, with November 10 set as the deadline.

Doris Tillard, of the radio committee, spoke of the local Crusade for Freedom campaign, club members signed the scroll and contributed to the fund.

The dinner and meeting were in charge of the health and safety committee, with Emily Leathers as chairman, Ann Parish, Emma Atkins and Edith Erickson. Tables were in fall colors, with foliage and fall flowers used in attractive arrangement.

For the program, a picture on safety, "The Closed Book", was shown by John Powley, of the Farm Bureau Insurance Company, assisted by Arden Anderson. The showing of the movie was followed by a discussion period led by Mr. Powley.

VFU AUXILIARY

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Dinsmoor-Schwing Post 631, VFU, will meet this evening in the post rooms. Following the regular business session, a social time will be enjoyed and members are reminded to bring articles for a white elephant auction. Refreshments will be served by the October committee.

Old Adage Proved At Welcome Picnic Of German Group

That good things come in small packages proved true at the "welcome picnic" of Warren High School's German Club at the Marconi Outing Club Tuesday evening, when Sally Bova chose the smallest prize from the other 12 ten-cent gifts and it turned out to be a dollar bill.

The tureen supper, planned by the social committee under David Woodruff and the program committee with Robert Harrington as chairman, was a welcome to the new students in the German classes.

Games, dancing, singing, and entertainment filled the evening's program. For the floor show Marcia Stevens and Robert Alpaugh played guitars and sang, while Anne Israel played two piano numbers, and a quartet, consisting of Martin Carlson, James Cooney, Arthur O'Connor, and Kenneth Williams, sang songs in German.

In the games, prizes were awarded to Mary Bauer, Valerie Bieker, Sally Bova, Beverly Chapman, Elizabeth Eddy, Roseann Gernonto, Lois Radsplinner, Norma Westfall, Martin Carlson, James Colvin, Charles Conaway, John Parks, and Joseph Pascuzzi.

A complete schedule of monthly activities and projects has been planned by officers of the club and Edward Zulak, German teacher and advisor.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS FAVOR LOYALTY OATH

Harrisburg, Oct. 11—(P)—Pennsylvania's school directors today favored requiring teachers to swear or affirm allegiance to the United States constitution.

Members of the State School Directors Association, closing their 58th annual convention here, approved this resolution:

"That we believe it is reasonable to require those persons who teach our children to swear or affirm allegiance to the constitution of the United States of America."

The resolution was related to a "loyalty oath" bill which has stirred up a storm of controversy in the state legislature ever since its introduction last winter.

GASOLINE 12 CENTS DURING STATE WAR

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 11—(P)—Gasoline sold for as low as 12 cents a gallon here today as a three-month old gas price war showed no signs of breaking up.

Motorists flocked to the service stations to take advantage of the new low price. The rush became so heavy at one station last night that police were called out to direct traffic around the lineup of cars waiting to be served.

WCTU SEEKS CHANGE

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 11—(P)—The Arkansas Women's Christian Temperance Union yesterday voted to seek "revocation" of a 1949 act which allowed export of liquor from Arkansas into dry states.

The delegates apparently overlooked the fact that the act was repealed by the 1951 legislature early this year.

ELK COUNTY PAPER FIRM FACES CHARGES

Harrisburg, Oct. 11—(P)—Preliminary objections to charges of stream pollution against an Elk county paper plant have been dismissed by the Dauphin county court.

The charges were brought by the Allegheny County Sportsmen's League against the New York and Pennsylvania Company, Johnsonburg.

Judge William H. Neely overruled company objections that board members were charged individually rather than as representatives and that proper action should be taken by mandamus rather than equity.

Increase Noted in Vocational Aid to the Handicapped

Harrisburg—The State Bureau of Rehabilitation prepared eight typically handicapped Commonwealth residents for satisfactory employment during each working day of August, a noted increase over the corresponding 1960 period, it was reported today.

During the 1960-61 fiscal year 485 handicapped persons were rehabilitated and trained for gainful jobs, while during the first eight months of the current calendar year the Bureau prepared 564 persons for employment.

"All Pennsylvania citizens, 16 years of age or older, with job handicaps in the form of physical or mental impairments are eligible for vocational rehabilitation services," said Mark M. Walter, Bureau director. "Unemployment is not a prerequisite. A disabled person may be eligible under the program if he is working at a job which, because of his disability, endangers his health or safety or the health or safety of others, or he is in danger of losing his job because of his disability. Before rehabilitative services can be provided, however, it must be determined that the disabled man or woman has a reasonable opportunity of being placed in gainful and suitable employment."

Vocational rehabilitation is an integrated professional program combining all necessary services and patterned to disabled persons' needs so that they might be prepared and placed in a job which utilizes their best skills, physical and mental capacity.

Major services provided by the bureau as part of a disabled person's rehabilitation are counseling and guidance; medical, surgical, psychiatric and hospital services; artificial appliances; schooling and their training; and placement on the right job with adjustment services to assure that the rehabilitated individual makes good. Other services including medical examinations, maintenance and transportation, and the provision of necessary occupational tools and equipment.

"For society as a whole, nothing is so costly as an idle man who might be rehabilitated and placed in employment," Walter said.

"Each time a disabled person is rehabilitated and prepared for employment we add a productive unit to industry and promote the welfare of our state. That is why the eight handicapped persons who were rehabilitated each day during August is most significant."

In addition to those who completed training there are thousands more in the process of being retrained and rehabilitated by the state bureau of rehabilitation.

NOT SNOWDRIFTS, BUT "MOLD-DRIFTS" — This model "town," built on a large culture plate by GE engineers at Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio, was left for a few days in a warm, humid atmosphere. Mold began to grow—the same kind Mama sometimes finds on stale bread. But a small germicidal lamp was left shining on the model. No mold grew where the lamp's ultraviolet light shone, but in the shadows cast by the buildings and trees, green and white mold grew rapidly and thickly. The effect was the same as in late winter, when snowdrifts in this picture are really "mold-drifts."

Meat Prices Drop In Rare Instances As Eggs Go Higher

By The Associated Press

Retail prices of a few prime and choice grade beef cuts, particularly steaks, dropped as much as 13 cents a pound this week in scattered markets as customers balked at paying ceiling prices.

But reductions of any kind were far in the minority. Most beef and pork prices held at the same levels established after higher ceilings were granted recently. Veal, lamb and chicken prices also were generally steady.

Top grade large eggs were unchanged to six cents a dozen higher and thrifty shoppers in many sections found it to their advantage to buy pullet eggs, cheaper on a pound for pound basis. At this time of year many farmers are culling older hens from their laying flocks and replacing them with pullets whose egg production is on the increase.

Potatoes, onions, pears and dwindling supplies of melons were higher this week in most produce markets. Apples turned upward, too, reflecting increased demand attributed to cooler weather and the apple industry's October promotion campaign.

Heavier supplies of tomatoes, carrots, cauliflower, and most citrus fruits caused their prices to edge off slightly.

Agriculture department market analysts said concord grapes, highly regarded for making wine, jellies, jams and preserves in the home, were at the peak of their season. Tokay grapes and several other varieties also were in good supply.

At mid-week best grade butter advanced to 70 cents a pound at wholesale in Chicago for the first time since May (6 1/2 cents higher than last year at this time), indicating that a price rise at retail could be expected.

More cattle has been coming to market in recent weeks but the larger supplies have been bought chiefly by cornbelt feeders to be fattened further on grain feed. The department said offerings of cattle for slaughter should increase noticeably for the next 10 or 12 weeks but that cattle slaughter for the year as a whole probably will be the smallest in at least eight years.

REAL REASON

There is some justification for the idea that rattlesnakes do not live where white ash trees grow. White ash grows generally on a rich, moist soil in thick woods and near water, while rattlesnakes prefer, as a rule, open, dry, stony, sunny places. Thus, they are not likely to be together.

"this our fathers bought for us..."

KIPLING was speaking of precious human freedom when he wrote, "This our fathers bought for us long and long ago."

But courage and valor are not solely the virtues of brave fighting men in combat. It took no less courage for men like Pasteur, Lister, Koch, and hosts of others to struggle for scientific truth against cries of heresy from the ignorant and the superstitious. Inspired by the example of these great men, your physician battles the same foes today. At his side is the pharmacist, always eager to carry the fight to the enemy.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

FOR the budget's sake, stretch meat with tender cereal. For appetite's sake, add extra flavors to your meat loaves with mushroom garnish.

Beef Loaf with Mushroom Garnish (4 servings for 2 meals)

One-half cup granulated rice cereal or fine dry bread crumbs, 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk, 1½ cups chopped beef, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup finely diced onion, 3-ounce can broiled mushrooms.

Place rice cereal in mixing bowl.

ADD milk and let stand 5 minutes. Add chopped beef, egg, salt, pepper, nutmeg and onion. Mix well, using large kitchen fork. Lightly pack into greased small loaf pan, about 8 x 4 inches.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until done, about 45 minutes to 1 hour. Invert on serving platter and surround with mushroom crowns which have been heated in their own broth. Leftover meat loaf can be served cold in slices, makes excellent sandwich meat.

Squash and Meat Pie (4 generous servings)

One-half pound chopped beef, 2 tablespoons granulated rice cereal, 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, ¼ cup finely diced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 pound package quick-frozen squash, about 2 cups; 1 egg, beaten; 2 tablespoons butter, melted; ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Blend chopped beef, rice cereal, broth drained from can of mushrooms, onion, salt and nutmeg thoroughly together. Pack evenly over the bottom and sides of a greased 8-inch pie plate. Combine squash with egg, drained mushrooms, butter, salt and pepper, whipping well with fork.

Pile lightly over the meat lining the pie plate, spreading fairly evenly. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until meat is done and squash is thoroughly hot, about 45 minutes. Serve hot cut in wedges like a pie.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, coffee cakes, whole wheat toast, butter or fortified margarine, tart jelly, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed mixed salmon and tuna on toast, enriched rolls, butter or fortified margarine, celery, gingerbread squares, tea, milk.

DINNER: Beef loaf with mushroom garnish, gravy, baked potatoes, buttered summer squash, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, sliced tomatoes with chopped chives, prepared chocolate pudding, cream, coffee, milk.

Pleasant Firemen Celebrate Birthday At Dinner Meeting

Pleasant township's fire hall was a scene of much activity when the Volunteer Fire Department, the Auxiliary and their families gathered 110 strong to celebrate the third anniversary of the founding of the department.

The hall was beautifully decorated with cut flowers donated by Mrs. Herbert Carnes.

Frank Valone, chairman, served as emcee for the program, which opened with all repeating the Lord's Prayer as invocation for the delectable dinner.

Glenn Elliott gave a brief talk on the work of the department since its founding three years ago, while Chief Ebert Clark recounted the fire runs made by the department and recited accomplishments to the present.

Mr. Valone introduced the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Valone, who extended a cordial welcome to all in attendance and commended men of the department on the work done in getting the fire hall ready for use.

Mrs. Wood gave a report on the accomplishments of the auxiliary during the past year.

A beautiful birthday cake, decorated with a miniature fire truck, was made and donated by Mrs. Frank Valone, while three-year-old Barbara Alexander officiated for its award to William Sweetland. All joined in singing "Happy Birthday" while Mr. Sweetland expressed a wish for the continued success of the department and "row out the cake's three candles.

The remainder of the very pleasant evening was spent with dancing to the music of the Sun Valley Rangers.

Real development of passenger airline service in the United States began about 1928 and 1929.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Oct. 10.—In a meeting held at the home of Superintendent Paul Carlberg, Presbyterian Sunday school workers completed plans for Promotion and Rally Day next Sunday, October 14, with a 10:30 a. m. service which will combine the church-school and worship hour.

Mr. Carlberg presided at the meeting and the pastor, Melvin Rein, conducted devotions. The school will purchase new song books and also material for a Christmas cantata in charge of Mrs. E. Coston Frederic. A new class for young married couples and others is to be organized. The meeting closed with prayer by Fulton McKay.

Rev. Victor Bucher, Titusville, assisted the pastor Sunday morning at observance of World Communion Day. Carlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Devereaux, and John Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gourley, were baptized.

ed and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic were received into membership by letter. Special music included a solo by Mrs. Frederic and a number by the Junior choir, directed by Mrs. Frederic. Mr. Rein announced special services the week of November 14.

Mrs. Paul Carlberg, Jr., whose husband is stationed at Westover Air Base, Mass., arrived Friday to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickelson.

Mrs. Lois Pistner, Mr. and Mrs. James Betts, Erie, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Stuart.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Matvo were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. John Schirilla and daughters, Carol and Geraldine, Cleveland, O., Mrs. Anna Matve, Union City; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cella and daughter, Alyce-Mae, Cleveland. LOT OF WORK—There's not much time for leisure for Darwin in helping to manage the 84-head herd at Eckstrom farm. The photographer caught him coming out of the barn during his daily chores.

CHORE TIME—Part of the daily chores for Darwin is keeping the stainless steel milking equipment spotless and gleaming. Here he washes one of the big milking pails. Other stainless steel utensils are on the shelf above his head.

ADVISER—Darwin Eckstrom, who is being considered as candidate for the American Farmer Degree, a much-coveted national award, relies heavily on the advice of Richard C. Farver, a teacher at Sugar Grove. He's shown here discussing the operation of an elevator, one of several pieces of modern machinery used on the Eckstrom farm. (Times-Mirror Photos).

Sugar Grove-Farmington Graduate, Former Baseball Player, Is Successful Cattleman

Active in Future Farmers of America, Darwin Eckstrom, 20, owns third interest in herd of 84 Holsteins and Guernseys; in seventh grade when he and his brother first went into business.

There's a quiet, mild-mannered young man on a farm just across the state line, near Busti, who's making quite a name for himself—but you have to go to his friends to find out about him.

He's Darwin Eckstrom, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eckstrom of RD 3, Jamestown. He's being considered as a possible candidate for the coveted American Farmer Degree, a national award. Six youths from this area will be chosen as candidates, and the award will be made to one of them during a national farm meeting next October.

Darwin doesn't have his heart set on the award, but you can tell from the gleam in his eye that he would be pleased as punch at even being selected as one of the six candidates.

He is a graduate, Class of 1949, from the Sugar Grove-Farmington high school, and took one semester of work at Alfred University Extension before the press of his many duties at the Eckstrom farm forced him to give up his class work.

During high school, he was very active in the Future Farmers of America chapter at Sugar Grove. He also was president of the sophomore class, vice president of the junior class, and played baseball for the Sugar Grove High school varsity team for two years. He is keenly interested in dairy farming, and his first experience in actual herd management came at a time when he was still attending grade school.

He was in the seventh grade when he and his brother, Lawrence, then a sophomore, rented a farm across the road from the Eckstrom homestead. The two of them then operated a complete farm for two years, including the management of a herd of 21 cows, including 12 milkers.

Darwin's interest in dairy farming continued all during high school, and Richard C. Farver, agricultural adviser at the Sugar Grove school, said the estimated worth of Darwin's farm activities when he graduated in 1949 was $3,000.

The dairy herd on the Eckstrom farm now numbers 84 head of Holsteins and Guernseys. Darwin owns a one-third interest in this herd, as well as a similar interest in considerable new farm machinery which has been acquired during the past three years. The other two-thirds interest in the herd is owned by Darwin's father, and his brother, Lawrence.

At the present time, Darwin is completing plans for removing an old wagon shed on the farm and replacing it with a modern building to house the numerous pieces of farm equipment. After that, he plans improvements to the big dairy barn and to the family homestead.

Dairy Industry to Lead Farm Parade During Pennsylvania Week Observance

The largest single phase of Pennsylvania agriculture is milk production. It leads the Commonwealth's farm parade of values with a farm cash income from dairy products that reached $248,007,000 in 1950, ranking Pennsylvania 3rd in the United States. This represents approximately one-third of all farm income for the State.

Pennsylvania's 41,000 dairy farms annually produce about six billion pounds of milk—enough to fill a 3-lane highway six inches deep for a distance of more than 1,000 miles, or greater than from New York to Chicago.

The overall dairy industry of Pennsylvania is estimated as a billion-dollar-a-year business at the retail level. Residents of only one other state consume more milk. Pennsylvania leads all other states in the production of ice cream. This Commonwealth also is first in the volume of milk delivered direct to consumers by the producer and ranks 3rd in the value of farm butter sold. Millions of pounds of milk are processed into cream, cheese and condensed milk.

Through improved breeding, feeding and management practices Pennsylvania farmers in the past 40 years have increased the total of milk production in Pennsylvania by more than 55 per cent. The average per cow has advanced more than 51 per cent, reaching 6,160 pounds in 1950.

Pennsylvania has 1,010,000 dairy cows and heifers two years old and older kept for milk production, ranking 8th in the United States in this respect. Their value on January 1, 1951 was $240,380,000, giving Pennsylvania 6th place. In milk production, Pennsylvania ranked 8th in 1950, but was 3rd in value of dairy products. The State ranks 2nd in the amount of milk handled, 2nd in number of plants producing ice cream wholesale, 4th in output of cream cheese.

Through improved breeding, feeding and management practices Pennsylvania farmers in the past 40 years have increased the total of milk production in Pennsylvania by more than 55 per cent. The average per cow has advanced more than 51 per cent, reaching 6,160 pounds in 1950.

President Truman has designated the week of October 7-13 as fire prevention week. This is a crusade against the toll of life and property resulting from fires. This particular week also marks the usual beginning of the fall fire season on the Allegheny National Forest and this year seems to be no exception.

The advent of the colorful foliage season brings many visitors to the local woods. Soon hunting season will be here. Once again the personnel of the Allegheny National Forest and the State Department of Forests and Waters, in the interest of conservation, ask all people using the woods to again be careful with the use of fire. The cooperation of the average citizen in the recent past has been splendid. We solicit that cooperation again this fall.

We suggest that the following rules be strictly adhered to if fires must be used in or near woodlands:

1. MATCHES: Be sure your match is out. Break in two before you throw it away.
2. TOBACCO: Be sure pipe

PENNSYLVANIA TEAMS ARE FACING WELL-MATCHED FOES IN ALL GAMES THIS WEEK

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—(P)—Pennsylvania colleges are involved in 35 football games this weekend and it appears that the schedule makers got together to pair all the evenly matched teams just to confound the would-be prognosticators.

But, as they say, fools rush in. So here goes. Last week's record was 21 right and eight wrong for a seasonal log of 55 correct choices and 22 bad ones making the percentage for the year an even .740.

Friday:
Albright at Temple: Albright's Lions are an unbeaten club at this writing, but if they were looking for an undefeated season, the schedule-makers made a bad selection in carding Temple in one of its better seasons. No runaway but a victory for Temple.

Villanova at Alabama: Under-rated Villanova goes against over-rated Alabama. One of these weeks the Crimson Tide is going to start to roll, but we believe it won't be against Bob Haner Co. Villanova also West Liberty over Wayneburg and Wilkes over Ithaca.

Saturday:
Princeton at Pennsylvania: This traditional fust is loaded with underdogables. Both teams are young and relatively inexperienced.

Princeton packing more offensive strength and Penn the better defenses. But they say a good offense is the best defense. Thus, a narrow edge to Princeton.

St. Francis at Scranton: Scranton is unbeaten, untied and unscored upon. That record will prevail another week. Scranton.

Penn State at Nebraska: The Nittany Lions are good but they have no Bobby Reynolds, and the long trip won't do. Penn State's boys much good. So much for rationalization. Penn State.

Muhlenberg at Lafayette: Neither the Mules nor Leopards have won a game this season. They seem to be about even in strength and this could well be a tie. The often-errant coin says Muhlenberg.

Pittsburgh at Iowa: There seems to be no way of guessing what Pitt will do on any Saturday. So any guess must be a wild one. Here's a wild one. Iowa.

Bucknell at Kent: There may be somebody on Bucknell's schedule who can cope with Dean, Myers & Co. But Kent isn't it. Bucknell.

Indiana at Edinboro: Indiana, the surprise leader among the state's teacher colleges, finds the going easy this week. Indiana.

Ez Charles TKO's Lane in Eleventh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 11.—(P)—Ezzard Charles is hot on the comeback trail today after knocking out Rex Layne in the same ring where he lost his heavyweight title to Jersey Joe Walcott.

Charles stopped the 23-year-old Salt Lake City, Utah, boxer in 2:32 of the 11th round last night in an interesting but unimpressive bout before a disappointing turnout of 6,257 fans at Forbes Field.

Charles weighed 188, heaviest of 1951. The fight grossed $59,763, including $25,000 for television rights. Temperatures in the low 50's kept down the attendance which promoters expected to reach 15,000.

Heavier by six pounds than for his last title fight, the former champion was far ahead by points when a hard right to the chin in the 11th dropped Layne for a nine count and the referee stopped it.

Up until the 10th, it was just another 12 round bout. With seconds running out, Charles opened up with a barrage of lefts and rights and Layne went down. He lay on his back as the bell ended the round at the count of eight. His seconds had to haul the Utah strong boy back to his corner.

Vesling of Warren Leads Section Two In Gridiron Points

Dean Vesling, fleet-footed Drag-on left-halfback, is currently leading the Section Two scoring race with five touchdowns and three extra points, a total of 33 points. It is, however, doubtful that the local lad will retain his position very long.

The Blue and White have completed all five of their league games giving Vesling no opportunity to increase his total, while Corry's Larry Vanderhoof has three more conference scraps to build his 30 points that give him second place.

Patsy Maletta, Meadville, holds down the third spot in the standings with 20 points, while Toby Shea places fifth after Rex Griffith of the Bulldogs.

Other Warren players in the scoring column are George Scalise and Dick Hegerty in a four-way tie for eighth place with 12 points, and Ed Frontera and Bud Terry in a 14-way tie for ninth place.

Stengel Sits On Top Baseball World After Yanks 4-3 Triumph

New York, Oct. 11.—(P)—Old Casey Stengel sits atop the baseball world today with a knowing wink and three straight world championships to show for his first three years as manager of the New York Yankees.

You can bet your bottom dollar the grizzled skipper will be back in 1952 to complete his $65,000 plus contract. And probably 1953 and so on.

Sure Leo Durocher's "miracle men" Giants gave the Yanks a good wrestle before succumbing, 4-3, in yesterday's sixth game at chilly Yankee Stadium. But they couldn't quite manage another miracle against an aroused Yankee club that chalked up its 14th world championship in 18 series.

If you looked sharp you could see this coming since Sunday's postponement. Trailing 2-1 in games without a pitcher for the fourth, the Yanks got a terrific break when a 2¼-inch rainfall washed the game into the Harlem river.

Allie Reynolds gained another day of precious rest and came back to bind the Giants Monday. Then they rolled the heavy artillery into action for the 13-1 slaughter of the fifth game.

Maybe they were lucky to close it out in six. The Giants outlived them yesterday, 11-7, and staged a rousing finish that all but saved the day.

Still Hank Bauer's 400-foot triple—a typical Yankee blast—unloaded the bases with the winning runs in the sixth. That was the ball game, plain and simple, although it took a bit of doing to keep it under control.

Jamestown Sophs Beat Dragonettes

Warren High Seconds' invasion of Jamestown yesterday proved a fatal one, as the Jamestown Sophomores routed the Dragonettes 25 to 7. The win avenges a 14-7 setback handed Jamestown by the Warren Reserves on September 27. The Little Dragons' only score came early in the initial stanza, when Warren recovered Bob Baglia's bad pass from center on the Jamestown six. From there Lances Mohny, fullback, bucked the line twice to go over and then plunged for the extra point.

For the remainder of the half neither team was able to push the ball into the end zone, but in the third period the Baby Red Raiders came back with three TDs.

Immediately after the kickoff the Jamestown Sophs blocked a Dragonette punt and Fran Remington picked it up on the 25 and raced across to tally. The pass for the extra point failed and Warren still led 7-6.

Coach Massa's boys were unable to gain again and punted to the 50. From there Joe Agnello, Jamestown left half, lugged the pigskin to the 25. Three plays later Dick Pollino bucked from the 12 and Agnello made it 13-7 on an end run.

A 43-yard pass from Pollino to Fred Arnone accounted for the third Little Raider touchdown, and the former plunged for 12 yards for the final tally.

OCTOBER, the Extra Value Month for Fashions at Metzger-Wright's

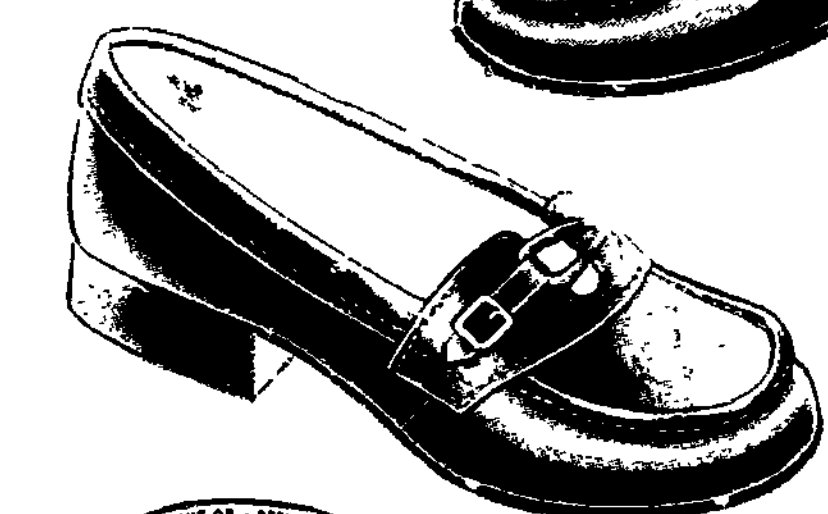

At first glance—you'd think we borrowed all the lovely shades of Autumn and spun them into mist. Who knows—maybe we did! For Belle-Sharmeer's new "Symphony Shades" reflect the beautiful, burnished shades of a late fall afternoon... the shadowy softness of October haze. Captivating? Oh, indeed they are! And even more so—in your very own Belle-Sharmeer Leg-size.

1.35 to 1.95 a pair

heavy for slender or small legs medium for average size legs duckness for tall, larger legs and elastic for largest legs

They're made for fun... Wear like Mad and feel like a "million." What more could you ask of your fall sport shoes?
